Riverview Community Bank to Host Free Shred Day

(VANCOUVER, Wash.) – Riverview Community Bank will host a free Community Shred Day on Saturday, April 20, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Riverview Center, located at 17205 SE Mill Plain Blvd in Vancouver.

Riverview invites the public to bring up to three boxes of unwanted, paper documents and materials to the shredding event. It is not necessary to remove paperclips or staples. An industrial shredding truck will be on site for secure destruction by Cintas Document Management®.

Proper destruction of confidential information is an important step in preventing identity theft and fraud, two of the fastest growing segments of crime. “At Riverview, we care about the privacy and security of all our friends and neighbors in the community, so we are pleased to be able to offer this free shredding service to the public,” says Executive Vice President Kim Capeloto. “Secure disposal of unneeded sensitive documents is not just good for your own protection; it’s good for the environment, too.”

For more information about Riverview’s Community Shred Day, including a complete list of acceptable items to shred, visit RiverviewBank.com or call 800.822.2076.
