Riverview Community Bank's Melissa Lucore joins FTVV's Board

(VANCOUVER, Wash.) – February 13, 2013 – Riverview Community Bank employee, Melissa Lucore, has been elected treasurer of the Fort Vancouver Community Television (FTVV) board of directors. The volunteer-run, public access station made the announcement in January 2013.

"I think she is going to be fantastic," said Ronald Carr, FTVV's immediate past chair, of Lucore's appointment. "She is a motivating and dedicated individual who can offer a lot of great advice. Since she is so well known in the community, she will not have a problem fitting right in."

Lucore has been with Riverview Community Bank since 2005. In her eight years with the organization, Lucore has served in a variety of capacities, from working in the loan servicing department to her current role as customer service representative at Riverview's branch in downtown Vancouver. A Washington-native, Lucore enjoys volunteering at such Riverview-sponsored events as Six to Sunset and Dozer Days.
